Nutty Prof Is Getting His Degree

By ROBERT H. JOHNSON JR.

DENTIN, Tex. (AP) — The craziest college professor in the country, man, is getting his doctor's degree.

Craziest is what his students call M. E. (Gene) Hall, meaning he's the greatest.

Hall, who has trouble switching between scholarly conversation and boisterous lingo runs a real cool jazz music course at North Texas State College here. As far as he knows, it's the only course in the United States that will get you a degree as a bachelor of music in jazz from an accredited college.

By mail the first week of June his doctor of education degree should arrive from New York University.

"I'm not going up there to get it because it costs money," he said. "I've got grocery bills and kids in school, you know."

Hall, a big, bespectacled man of 40, has been fighting grocery bills since he got out of school at Whitehouse, a little town in North Texas.

During the depression, he played the saxophone in a band. That doesn't mean the band panicked the people. Most of the time the band was in a panic, wondering where it was going to play and eat next.

He saved and entered NTSC. When his money ran low he'd go out for a year or one-night stands. By 1943 he had his master's degree.

While he was a graduate student he started teaching a couple of West Texas boys how to arrange popular music pretty soon he had a class of 15. The course has been taught ever since.

Jean Hersholt Parting With Dr. Christian

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — For the first time in 17 years, Jean Hersholt is parting company with Dr. Christian.

The great Dane is playing one of the leading roles in "Run For Cover" with James Cagney, Vivica Lindfors and John Derek. It will be the first time since 1937 that the public has seen or heard him in any role except that of the kindly Dr. Christian.

"I want to see if I can get away with doing something else," says Hersholt. "After all, Dr. Christian is such a sweet, sentimental fellow. I'd hate to be stuck with playing only him for the rest of my life."

"Two whole generations have grown up knowing me as nothing else but Dr. Christian. Yet I have played in over 400 pictures and done every kind of role, including many heavies."

He'll be no heavy in this one, He plays Miss Lindfors' father, a stubborn Swede who is a frontier farmer.

I visited him at his Beverly Hills home, where he has lived for almost 30 years. He looked the same answer, except that he had grown sideburns and a brush mustache and his film role. He relaxed in his upstairs study, a room laden with medals and trophies, including three honorary Oscars and awards from foreign countries.

"I have no beef with Dr. Christian," he said, puffing on a pipe. "He has been very good to me. I was on radio every week, summer and winter, 13 years with the same sponsor; I don't believe any other show can match that record."

I asked him if Jean Hersholt was doing this picture. I want to see Paul Christian are the same

House Quietly Probes the Big Foundations

B JAMES MA RL OW

WASHINGTON (AP) The investigation into tax-exempt foundations — including Ford and Rockefeller — is about as quiet as five people dancing barefoot on a hot stove.

The special House committee making the inquiry has three Republicans and two Democratic members. In the past few days the two sides have been in pitched battle.

This is how it started: There are about 38,000 organizations exempt under law from paying taxes on any income they get, whether from dividends on stock they hold or from contributions, because of the way they spend the money.

On charity, scholarships for scientists or artists, fund for a college doing special research in medicine or science, or a study of civil liberties, human relations or foreign affairs. These organizations range in size from the giant foundations, with assets in the hundreds of millions to those with no endowment but with incomes from contributions of a few hundred or a few thousand dollars.

The very biggest ones were set up by rich men or their heirs. The five biggest, and their assets, are: Ford, 500 million dollars; Rockefeller, 321 million; Carnegie, over 117 million; Duke, 131 million; Pew, nearly 105 million.

Since these foundations enjoy tax exemption, Congress has a right to investigate to see how they spend their money. It set up a special House committee in 1952, under the chairmanship of the late Rep. Eugene Cox (D-Ga.), to do that and to see whether the foundations were using "their resources for un-American and subversive activities or for purposes not in the interest or tradition of the United States."

The committee questioned the heads of the big foundations, others who liked or disliked them, and some who suggested the foundations had been invaded by Communists.

The committee did its work in the last six months of 1952 — it was to finish by Jan. 1, 1953. Cox died on Dec. 24, 1952. Eight days later the committee report was issued by Cox's successor, Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark).

The report acknowledged the committee had too little time to do a complete study, but praised the foundation's for the good they had done and would do.

The committee said Communists had captured a few small foundations, and infiltrated others, but that its study indicated "few actual Communist or Communist sympathizers obtained positions of influence in the foundations."

This didn't satisfy Rep. B. Carroll Reece (R-Tenn.), who had been a member of Cox's committee. Reece, chairman of the Republican National Committee from 1946 to 1948, was Southern manager for the late Sen. Robert A. Taft's campaign for the GOP presidential nomination in 1952.

In 1953 Reece persuaded the House to create another special committee, saying he wanted to look not only for Communist influence but for Socialist influence too. Rep. Hays protested the Cox committee had done all it should do, that if the House wanted to check on Communists in foundations that was a job for the Un-American Activities Committee and if it wanted to check on how foundations used their money that should be done by the House Ways and Means Committee, which handles person. "I don't like to think so," he said. "I have an identity of my own. That's one of the reasons I prove that I can do something else."

That doesn't mean he's abandoning that Doc. The show has gone off radio for the present. But Hersholt has made a film for

DOROTHY DIX

Girl With Problems

Dear Miss Dix: I have a twofold problem; perhaps an answer will take care of both. Upon graduating from college I came to work in a small town (though not as small as my home town) because my sister teaches here. That was two years ago. Shortly after arriving, I met Josh. We went steady for a while, then drifted apart. He is now working in another state and we correspond, though spasmodically. However I can't get him out of my mind and am constantly weaving daydreams about a possible future together.

I've had other boy friends since even two proposals, but they didn't appeal to me. How to get him more interested in me is problem No. 1. Now for No. 2. Although this is a pleasant town and I have met many people here, I haven't been able to find one true friend. There are very few young people my age (22), and I've found that the girls I go with are not to be trusted with secrets. In other words, there just is not one person in whom I can confide or with whom I can be more than a casual acquaintance. I guess I'm in a rut and don't know how to get out of it. I can't believe the entire fault is mine, because I had some fine friends at college, but most of them are now married and scattered. D. S.

One Solution For Both Problems
Answer: At 22, with a good educational background, capabilities, and an apparent freedom from family responsibility, there is absolutely no reason why you should suffer from boredom. You have the world before you, girl, just waiting to be conquered. One solution almost surely will take care of both your problems. An interesting job in an interesting place is your answer. A small town where friends and opportunities are equally scarce holds no inducement for you at the moment. Why not try your luck in a large city, at least for the summer? Or, if you'd like to travel even farther afield, I suggest investing a dollar in a fascinating book, "How to Get a Job That Takes You Traveling."

A new job and environment will enliven your correspondence with Josh to the point where his interest may become thoroughly reawakened; or you might meet a new man who will effectively drive away all thoughts of your former suitor. Even more important, however you'll become a more interesting person. Dear Miss Dix: A week ago I was an usher at a wedding and was paired off with a lovely bridesmaid. Although this is the only time I met her, we got along very well and I'd like very much to know her better. She lives quite a distance away, but I could make the trip on a week end.

Answer: Write the girl, tell her how much you enjoyed the brief time you spent together and that you'd like to drive out for a visit sometime. Doubtless she's as anxious as you to develop a friendship that began as a casual acquaintance. Dear Miss Dix: I have heard from her since. I thought to dating you, but your marriage problem seemed to date a girl from my office. I wonder if it would be all right. Answer: Before you can thought to dating you, but your marriage problem seemed to date a girl from my office. I wonder if it would be all right. Answer: Before you can thought to dating you, but your marriage problem seemed to date a girl from my office. I wonder if it would be all right.

Georgia Holding Series of Meets
ATLANTA (AP) — The Georgia Education Commission plans a series of public meetings to receive recommendations on how the state can maintain its segregated schools.

The plans were formulated yesterday at a meeting of a commission subcommittee with Gov. Herman Talmadge.

Talmadge, speaking for the subcommittee, said the public hearings would be open to the press, radio and television. The first session will be held June 9.

Adm. Rep. Wayne L. Hays (D-Ohio) pointed out that Reece, while urging a new investigation, had attended only three of the committee sessions. Reece explained he couldn't attend because of family illness.

The House went along with Reece, and his committee has now started hearings. The two other Republican members are Representative Jesse P. Wolcott of Michigan and Angier L. Goodwin of Massachusetts.

The Democrats on the committee are Rep. Hays of Ohio and Mrs. Grace P. Post of Idaho. The two Democrats have been battling the Republicans over a witness who insisted the foundations had contributed to New Deal thinking. This investigation may go on for months.

Sunday School at St. Luke at Shepherd was conducted a little earlier than usual and the Sunday School commentator went to class No. 4 for the month of May, Miss Juanita Burton teacher.

After the eleven o'clock services, the pastor was scheduled to go to Macedonia to preach a Commencement sermon, and left in the midst of a Queen Drive at St. Luke.

Only two contestants were Mrs. Burton and Mrs. Alberda Brown and in the final analysis, Mrs. Brown won out. The two queens alone raised $112.47 for the building program.

There will be a State-Wide singing at the City Hall Sunday night, May 30, sponsored by Mt. Zion CME Church. Participants are from: Pine Bluff, Little Rock, Shreveport La., and Texarkana.

The American Legion Auxiliary met Tuesday night, 25, at Hicks Funeral Home.

High Court Too Clear Rulings

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 26. — It is not surprising that the United States Supreme Court intends to go at the outlawing of segregation in public places supported by public opinion.

The court said segregation in public places is unconstitutional, and that cases yesterday it heard on the court w as extending the outlawing of segregation to privately-owned theaters and housing.

The court yesterday also let stand a lower federal court decision that Negroes must be permitted to play on public golf links in Texas, but can be segregated in private clubs.

May 17 public school opinion said: "We conclude that the field of public education is one of the basic civil rights of Americans. Segregation in public schools is a denial of the equal protection of the laws. It is a violation of the Constitution. It is a violation of the rights of the children of the Negro children of equal rights."

The Supreme Court had heard segregation cases in all 48 states. Negroes got treatment that given whites. The court said segregation is a denial of the equal protection of the laws. It is a violation of the rights of the children of the Negro children of equal rights.

The court traditionally never has an opinion in one case, but in this case the other kind of opinion was given. The court said that segregation is a denial of the equal protection of the laws. It is a violation of the rights of the children of the Negro children of equal rights.

EYE-EYE-YE! — Joseph Cannarioto isn't taking any chances. He's using all the eyes he could get to take in the charms of Scheril London, at a ball held by the Art Students League in New York City. All but one set of Cannarioto's eyes were painted on, and are of little use in enjoying the sights.

PRESCOTT NEWS

Wednesday—May 26

The choir of the Presbyterian Church will practice Wednesday evening at 7:30.

Thursday—May 27

There will be a meeting of the Cub Scouts at Park Elementary School Thursday evening at 7:15 o'clock. All parents are urged to attend. The theme of the meeting will be "Show Boat."

Mrs. D. McRae, Jr. and Mrs. Frank Gilbert will be hostesses to the Southern Pine Garden Club on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 in the home of Mrs. McRae.

Mrs. Homer Ward Hostess To Canasta Club

The home of Mrs. Homer Ward was the scene for the meeting of the 1950 Canasta Club on Thursday afternoon.

The party rooms were decorated with colorful arrangements of roses and Japanese sunflowers.

High score honors were won by Mrs. Lee Kinney.

Guests for the afternoon were Mrs. William Buchanan, Mrs. Harold Parker, Mrs. Baker Britt, Mrs. L. L. Mitchell and Mrs. Burke Shelton.

Members present included Mrs. W. F. Demmitt Sr., Mrs. H. J. Wilson, Mrs. Jim Yancy, Mrs. Vernon Fore, Mrs. E. M. Sharp, Mrs. Imon Geo and Mrs. Kinney.

A delicious salad and dessert course was served.

Rev. Bensberg D. A. R. Guest Speaker

Mrs. Wallace Pemberton and Miss Frances Thrasher were hostesses to the Benjamin Club Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution on Thursday afternoon at the Lawson Hotel.

Arrangements of roses and pansies were used for decoration.

The regent, Mrs. C. H. Moore, presided and the meeting was opened with the ritual and pledge of allegiance to the flag followed with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner.

Mrs. J. W. Teeter presented certificates of award to June White, D. A. R. Good Citizen and to Dean Elmore, who received the D. A. R.

sity and a municipally owned theater in Louisville, Ky. Yesterday the high court told the lower courts to reconsider their rulings in the light of its public school opinion.

Does this mean Negroes must now be admitted to tax-supported colleges and to city-owned theaters? It would seem so from the Supreme Court's advice to the lower courts to re-examine their thinking on segregation.

But, since the court didn't say so, the final answer will have to wait for further clarification, perhaps when the court is willing to be more explicit than it was yesterday.

The court yesterday handled three other cases dealing with segregation. And in them, too, future clarification may be needed before it is clear how far the court intends to go.

In one, a lower court banned segregation in low-cost housing in San Francisco. A second a lower court banned segregation in a junior college at Wichita Falls, Tex.

The Supreme Court let both the lower court decisions stand.

But the third case was a puzzle. This was the case of Houston which had barred Negroes from the public golf links. A lower court held that, although Negroes must be permitted to play on these links, they can be segregated. It said down no firm rules.

The Supreme Court let that decision stand. So while in the other cases the high court seemed to be nudging dumps down on segregation, in Houston it let a segregation ruling of the lower court go.

Russian Chess Players to Play Americans

NEW YORK (AP) — The best chess players in Russia are coming to America for the first time to lock wits with a handpicked American team in an international match opening June 16.

The Russians, who almost came here last year but changed their minds at the last minute, will be led by world champion Mikhail Botvinnik.

In many ways the eight-day tournament will be remarkable. It will be the most definitive meeting thus far between Russian and American teams, although an American team lost to Russians in Moscow eight years ago. It will be the first time the Soviets have met America's best on their home grounds.

But who has dominated the upper echelons of the chess world for many years, will be pitted against the American Samuel Reshevsky.

Other pairings have not been announced.

The Botvinnik-Reshevsky match is a natural.

Reshevsky, who is 43, is generally acclaimed by his colleagues as the chess champion of the Western world.

He was a child prodigy. At the age of 7 he was playing public exhibitions and defeating major players.

Israel (Al) Horowitz, publisher of the Chess Review magazine, at 46, is the oldest man on the American team. Three of the Americans are in their early 20s. The average age of the team is 31, somewhat higher than that of the Russian squad.

Last year the Russians canceled their scheduled match here when the State Department ruled they could not stay at the country home of the Soviet United Nations delegation at Glen Cove, N. Y.

This year American chess leaders feel the match is definite. The Russians are due to arrive June 10. Ironically, this time they have elected to stay at a New York hotel, although the State Department now says they can go to Glen Cove if they want.

The tournament will be held in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Roosevelt. About 1,500 spectators are expected, with tickets for the series selling at $12.

Class That Helped Adviser Gets Its Trip

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP) — Twenty-six Mahomet, Ill., high school seniors found their own generosity paying off today as they started an expense-free tour of the scenic Ozarks.

The class had scraped up $800 for the trip but abandoned the plan and gave the money to a class adviser, Mrs. Eunice Sifferd, when her home burned recently.

When Joplin citizens heard of the students' action the Chamber of Commerce, the Ozark Playgrounds Assn. and the Joplin high school student council invited them to come anyway for free.

The students arrived late yesterday after a 12-hour bus trip, were guests at a Chamber of Commerce dinner, attended the Joplin high school commencement and spent the night at the homes of Joplin high school councilmen. The councilmen also will be their hosts to night and tomorrow night.

Today and tomorrow they will tour the corners of Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Kansas, and Thursday morning they will start home.

Today's itinerary, in a donated bus, included the penny fields at Sarcoxie, Mo.; visits to Pierce City and Monett; lunch at Roaring River State Park as guests of the Cassville Chamber of Commerce; stop at Eureka Springs, Ark.; Rogers, Ark.; Noel, Mo., and dinner at Neosho, Mo., at the Big Spring Inn.

Wednesday, traveling in new cars supplied by Joplin dealers the Mahomet students will visit the tri-state lead and zinc mine fields; make an underground tour of the Nancy Jane mine near Commerce, Okla.; lunch at Miami, Okla.; take an excursion boat trip on Grand Lake, and have dinner at Indian Creek Cove near Lanagan, Mo.

A television appearance and a free movie Wednesday evening will top off their entertainment.

TO RETIRE

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Emmet Morris, 77, announced yesterday he will retire July 1 as board chairman of Worthen Bank and Trust Co.

His retirement will end a 46-year career with Little Rock financial institutions.
